INTRODUCTION

Web3 is revolutionizing the gaming industry through innovative game features that use blockchains, cryptocurrency and non-fungible tokens (NFTs). It democratizes gaming in many ways giving gamers new opportunities to succeed. We have never seen a model that allows players to exert such control over a game. Instead of concentrating that control on one game, they could spread it throughout the entire ecosystem. Web3 in gaming not only creates a new type of gaming but also allows for the integration of our past.

The move to web3 gaming is a natural progression. Gaming is a rapidly growing industry that has the potential to lead technological advances. Gaming will be at the forefront of technological advancements, thanks to the new technologies emerging from this transition to web3, and we must say, that we are very happy working with Deauto on this Web3 gaming hackathon.

The game pixy road is a A.Nasser game design planning project that involves its target audience to be mobile based (android/ios), the game involves the player arriving in the city of shanghai jobless and in need of a work, through the help of some friends he was able to get a car and later got involved in a car race.
